AN ECHO OF MURDER

A William Monk Novel

Anne Perry

"The storytelling is dazzling, as it always is in a Perry novel."

— The New York Times Book Review

Anne Perry delves into the diverse population of Victorian London, whose disparate communities force William Monk to rethink his investigative techniques — lest he be caught in the crosshairs of violent bigotry. Only with a local pharmacist acting as translator can Monk hope to penetrate London's tightly knit Hungarian enclave, even as more of its members fall victim to identical brutal murders.

THE VINEYARD

María Dueñas

"Dueñas's novel is brilliantly executed, and it moves expertly between decades as it reveals truths of history and of humanity."

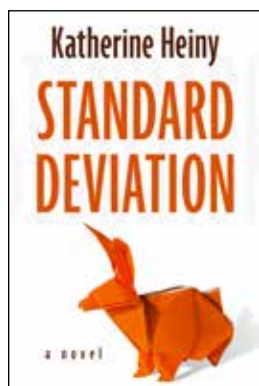

— Publishers Weekly on
The Heart Has Its Reasons

SML María Dueñas returns with a magnificent novel of ambition, heartbreak, and desire set in 1860s Mexico, Cuba, and Spain. This story of family intrigue vividly conjures the noise and grit of silver mines, the earthy lure of ancient vineyards, magnificent cities whose splendor has faded, and a destiny forever altered by the force of passion.

HANNA WHO FELL FROM THE SKY

Christopher Meades

"A gorgeous blend of dreamy folklore and gritty reality."

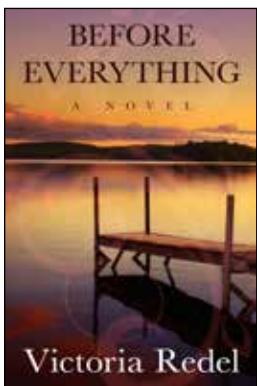

— Erika Swyler, bestselling author

Hanna has never been outside her secluded community. She has never questioned why her father has four wives or why she has fourteen brothers and sisters. In one week, she will become the fifth wife of a man more than twice her age. But just days before the wedding, Hanna meets an enigmatic stranger who challenges her to question her fate and follow her own will.

Meet Our New Peer Picks Selector Nicole Steeves

I ended up in librarianship after a first career in software development. My favorite part of that job was organizing information, so when I went looking for a graduate degree, the MLIS was the clear choice. My first library job was in the newspapers department at Chicago Public Library's Harold Washington Library Center, followed by the Literature & Language department there. I made a move to administration when I joined Fox River Valley Public Library District as Assistant Director, and then took my current position as Fox River Grove Memorial Library's director when, as luck would have it, the spot opened just a few weeks after I moved to town in 2016. Fox River Grove is a small community; our library district has about 4,200 residents. Even so, we have active and loyal patrons of all ages taking advantage of our full spectrum of library services, including print and digital materials, storytimes and Summer Reading Club, meeting space, and a variety of in-house and circulating technology devices. If you're ever in town for the world-renowned Norge Ski Club ski jump competitions, stop by and say hello!

Creating an Intranet

I started working with intranets in the year 2000 when I was working at a software company. I used HTML to create a 1000-page intranet accessible to all staff on a shared drive. I've never stopped proselytizing for intranets and their life-changing effect on disseminating information to a large staff.

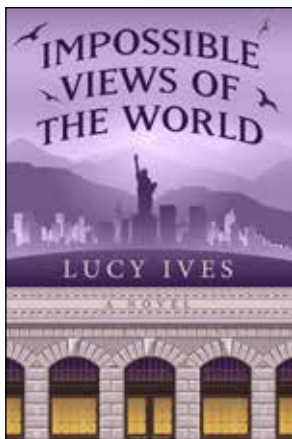

If you are considering implementing an intranet at your library, the first question to ask is: why? At our library, the first three reasons why were: (1) staff needed to access blank timesheets anywhere, at any time, (2) with a large number of substitute staff members rotating in and out of the library, we needed consistent access to training documentation and procedures, and (3) Youth Services had several years' worth of images saved on a local hard drive that other staff needed to access. See the theme? It's all about access — library staff need to be able to share and access each other's information, and intranets address that need. These three examples alone were enough to make it a worthwhile investment of time and energy.

You've answered why. Next question: what platform should we use? There are many available, some free and some very expensive, some hosted by cloud servers, some hosted locally. You'll need to review your budget and IT landscape to address those elements locally. Universally, though, you can answer that question by answering this one: what will be easiest to get started? Whether you like SharePoint, Google Suite, HTML, or some other option, what you CAN do and what you and your staff WILL be able to maintain is the single most important factor when narrowing platforms.

Final question to consider: how do we keep this thing from going out of date? Bad news first: a neglected intranet is a useless intranet, and if you get one and don't maintain it, you've wasted valuable resources. Good news: it's easy to set a few simple practices to keep an intranet vital. (1) Have something necessary for all staff that is only accessible via intranet. (2) Use the intranet to train new staff and review its contents before showing it off. (3) If your intranet has a newsfeed (like SharePoint does), copy your all-staff emails into the newsfeed. It's a great way to gather the "general knowledge" of the library into a place that will be accessible and easily searched for staff who join the organization after an email would have gone out.

Good luck and have fun — once a staff embraces an intranet, you'll wonder how you ever lived without it!

IMPOSSIBLE VIEWS OF THE WORLD

Lucy Ives

"An art historical mystery that will interest fans of Donna Tartt's The Goldfinch, with a narrator equal parts intellectual, ironic, and cool . . . A diversion and a pleasure, this novel leaves you feeling smarter and hipper than you were before." — starred, Kirkus Reviews

Stella Krakus, a curator at Manhattan's renowned Central Museum of Art, is having the roughest week in approximately ever.

Her soon-to-be ex-husband is stalking her, a workplace romance is in freefall, and a beloved colleague has gone missing. It's almost more than she can overanalyze. Then a mysterious map of a 19th-century utopian settlement appears.

978-1-4328-4430-1 ■ $31.99 U.S.

General Fiction ■ Releases 10/18/2017

Nicole says: I had a lot of fun reading this modern upending of a cozy mystery. The traditional elements were there — a surprising death with causes unknown, an observant amateur sleuth, and a museum setting providing colorful characters with an array of motives. But Stella, the would-be plucky heroine, is more like a cast member from Girls than Miss Marple or Hercule Poirot, and the whodunit quickly becomes more of a whydunit as Stella uncovers uncomfortable truths about herself and her colleagues. I'd recommend it to fans of the Flavia de Luce series or to someone looking for another readalike to Where'd You Go Bernadette?

WHITE FUR

Jardine Libaire

"[The] setting is viscerally exposed and uniquely gritty, and Libaire's meaty, brazen, Ferrari-fast sentences prop it up well."

— Booklist

When Elise Perez meets Jamey Hyde on a desolate winter afternoon, fate implodes, and neither of their lives will ever be the same. Although they are next-door neighbors in New Haven, they come from different worlds. White Fur follows them as they wander through Newport mansions and East Village dives, WASP yacht clubs and lower Manhattan, fighting the forces determined to keep them apart.

978-1-4328-4421-9 ■ $30.99 U.S.

General Fiction ■ Releases 10/18/2017

Nicole says: I have read a lot of books in a lot of genres — really, I'll try anything. But until I read White Fur, reading about sex made me want to throw the book aside. It just always felt embarrassing. In this book, though, it was just another part of the physical reality of our main characters, that for once it not only didn't bother me but made me care about them even more. Whether you already enjoy some heat in your fiction or if you, like me, want to see if it's possible to visit the spicy side and live to tell the tale, this book is perfect. I'd recommend this book to anyone interested in urban fiction, literary fiction, or a powerful love story. Enjoy — and be ready for surprises.

Rebecca's Selections

Stories for women about women. Their relationships with family and friends, about how they overcome obstacles in their lives and discover the value of loving themselves. Selections consist of clean, wholesome reads and contain no graphic sex or violence. These titles are selected by Booklist editor Rebecca Vnuk, an expert in the Women's Fiction genre and former librarian.

Rebecca's thoughts . . .

The third title in Colgan's popular series promises the same sweet, funny charm as the first two. Baker Polly is back, and this time she's got to deal with the quirky seaside resort denizens as a threatening winter storm approaches. Perfect for readers of Maeve Binchy and Fannie Flag.

Rebecca's thoughts . . .

Nurturing a relationship in a fishbowl is hard — if dealing with surly teenagers wasn't bad enough, Julia and James' relationship is also shadowed by her late husband's family and his ex-wife. Readers who enjoy Holly Chamberlin, Meg Wolitzer, and Katherine Center will adore this glimpse into a blended family's struggles and successes.

CHRISTMAS AT LITTLE BEACH STREET BAKERY

Jenny Colgan

"This book has everything readers have come to expect from a Colgan novel: humor, heartfelt relationship issues and yummy food descriptions." — RT Book Reviews on The Café by the Sea

In the Cornish coastal village of Mount Polbearne, the Christmas season is a joyous time for family, friends, and feasting. And in Polly's Little Beach Street Bakery, the aroma of gingerbread cookies and other treats tempts people in from the cold. But holiday bliss gives way to panic when a storm cuts the village off from the mainland.

THE AWKWARD AGE

Francesca Segal

"Love and romance in all their difficult, volatile combinations have no limits in this multigenerational dissection of the eternal conundrum of life: what brings us together can tear us apart." — starred, Library Journal

SML Julia Alden has fallen deeply, unexpectedly in love. James is everything she didn't know she wanted — if only her teenage daughter, Gwen, didn't hate him. Uniting two households is never easy, but when Gwen turns for comfort to James's seventeen-year-old son, the consequences will test her mother's loyalty and threaten all their fragile new happiness.

THE STANDARD GRAND

Jay Baron Nicorvo

"Nicorvo's muscular and energetic prose will stun readers with its poignancy, while providing a punch to the solar plexus." — starred, Booklist

SML AWOL before her third deployment, an Army trucker is sleeping in Central Park where she meets a Vietnam vet who inherited an old Borscht Belt resort. The Standard Grand confronts a glaring cultural omission: the absence of women in our war stories. Like the best of its characters, this American novel hopes to darn a hole or two in the frayed national fabric.

"At once visceral and poignant, a stunning debut in which (Ante)Bellum Smith goes AWOL prior to her third deployment and instead finds her way to the Standard Grand, a former Borscht Belt resort in the Catskills, now a halfway house of sorts for military vets suffering from PTSD. Nicorvo excavates this deep psychological terrain . . ."

Devin Murphy

"An ambitious coming of age story . . . Murphy's debut novel is a purposely limited view of war, as was The Red Badge of Courage, but strong characters and compelling narrative convey the impact well beyond one family. . . . Impressive." — starred, Kirkus Reviews

SML Epic in scope, The Boat Runner tells the little-known story of the young Dutch boys who were thrown into the Nazi campaign, as well as the brave boatmen who risked everything to give Jewish refugees safe passage. Through one boy's harrowing tale of personal redemption, we learn the power of stories and voices to bring light to our darkest days.

SHADOW MAN

Alan Drew

"Recommend this one to fans of Michael Connelly, Tana French, and Dennis Lehane . . . The Steinbeck-like passages about the vanishing cowboy landscape contribute to the novel's power." — starred, Booklist

SML With fine, chilling prose, acclaimed author Alan Drew weaves richly imagined characters into the first of several thrilling novels of suspense featuring the California world of Detective Ben Wade and forensic specialist Natasha Betencourt. In Shadow Man, a man, a woman, a family, and a community are confronted with the heart of human darkness.

YOU BELONG TO ME

Colin Harrison

"Gritty whodunit by thriller-meister Harrison, the bard of Gotham mayhem . . . For fans of the Larsson/Ludlum flavor of action-packed, cynical thriller, where no good deed goes unpunished." — Kirkus Reviews

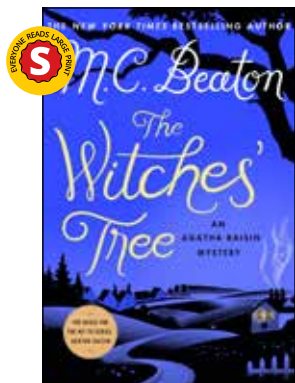

Nine years after his last critically acclaimed thriller, The Finder, Colin Harrison returns with "a tightly wound tale of obsession and betrayal" (Publishers Weekly). Filled with compelling characters and a loving but biting satire of New York City, You Belong to Me is an exceptional novel, and Colin Harrison is at the top of his game.

WHERE WE BELONG

Lynn Austin

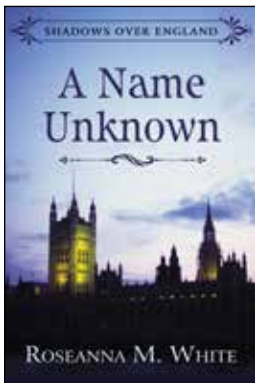

"Few authors can write as diversely within their genres as Lynn Austin does and consistently produce works of excellence. Yet, this latest offering is further proof that Austin is certainly one of these few." — RT Book Reviews on Waves of Mercy

SML Chicago, 1892. The rules for Victorian women are strict, their roles limited. But for sisters Rebecca and Flora Hawes, a love of adventure and the desire to use their God-given talents has brought them to the Sinai Desert — and into a sandstorm — on a quest to find an important biblical manuscript.

Shadows Over England • Book 1

Roseanna M. White

"A spying thief, an embattled novelist, a library overflowing with books and White's exquisite talent? How could any self-respecting fan of historical fiction say no to that?"
— RT Book Reviews

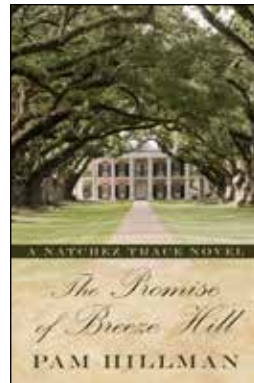

Rosemary Gresham has no family beyond the band of urchins that helped her survive as a girl on the streets of London. Now grown, they've learned to blend into upper-class society and work as thieves for hire. But when a client assigns Rosemary to determine whether a certain wealthy gentleman is loyal to Britain or to Germany, she is in for the challenge of a lifetime.

THE AMISH CHRISTMAS CANDLE

Kelly Long, Jennifer Beckstrand and Lisa Jones Baker

In Kelly Long's Snow Shine on Ice Mountain, when Naomi Gish's father hires Gray Fisher at their candle shop for the season, she's positive he has an ulterior motive. In A Honeybee Christmas by Jennifer Beckstrand, Bitsy Kiem sacrificed her Englisch life to raise her three nieces Amish. Can widowed Yost Weaver's Plain love convince her to stay? And in Lisa Jones Baker's The Christmas Candle, handsome Mennonite John King shows Lydia that hands joined to do good may unite hearts, as well.

YEWS WITH CAUTION

A Flower Shop Mystery

Kate Collins

"The Flower Shop Mystery series stays fresh and keeps getting better. Collins has created a small-town community that readers feel part of. The mystery in this installment keeps readers guessing all the way until the twisted end."

— RT Book Reviews on Throw in the Trowel

It's April in New Chapel, and Abby and her husband, Marco, are off to buy shrubs for their new house. But the owner of the local landscaping company is nowhere to be found. Abby's best friend, Nikki, meanwhile, believes she unwittingly helped a group of her hospital coworkers conspire to kill the man.

HILLBILLY ELEGY A MEMOIR OF A FAMILY AND CULTURE IN CRISIS

J. D. Vance

A passionate and personal analysis of a culture in crisis — that of white working-class Americans. The decline of this group, a demographic of our country that has been slowly disintegrating over forty years, has been reported on with growing frequency and alarm, but has never before been written about as searingly from the inside.

978-1-4328-4000-6 ■ $16.99 U.S.

Memoir ■ Releases 10/11/2017

Available in Paperback Bestsellers 4.
