LegalTrac

Instant access to up-to-date, comprehensive law research

The ideal resource for students, law school faculty and legal researchers, LegalTrac features a comprehensive collection of major legal publications. This invaluable resource provides indexing for more than 1,500 major law reviews, legal newspapers, specialty publications, Bar Association journals and international legal journals, including more than 250 titles in full text.

The American Association of Law Libraries (AALL), not only endorses LegalTrac, its special advisory committee selects, reviews and enhances the content for this resource — meaning researchers can benefit from timely, accurate results with every search.

Available on the state-of-the-art Gale PowerSearch platform, LegalTrac meets the needs of today's 24/7 researcher with around-the-clock remote access to a comprehensive selection of the most prestigious and comprehensive selection of legal publications available. By consolidating these legal publications into one resource, LegalTrac makes it easy to obtain relevant information on virtually any legal topic in a single search.

The screenshot displays the LegalTrac website interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with options like 'Basic Search', 'Subject Guide Search', 'Publication Search', 'Advanced Search', and 'Previous Searches'. A search bar contains the word 'lawsuit'. Below the search bar, there are filters for 'to documents with full text', 'to peer-reviewed publications', and 'to documents with images'. The main content area shows 'Popular Articles' and 'Popular Searches' sections. A search results list is visible, showing three results with titles like 'Marriage between Barack Bush, Y. Gene, Perry V. Schwab...'. A callout box on the left lists 'DOCUMENT TYPES' and 'PUBLICATION TITLES'. Another callout box on the right explains that the homepage offers a variety of search options and limiters for more targeted searching.
