Mary-Frances Winters

This is the first book to define and explore Black fatigue — and explain why and how society needs to collectively do more to combat its pernicious effects. Black people, young and old, are fatigued, says award-winning diversity and inclusion leader Mary-Frances Winters. It's physically, mentally, and emotionally draining to continue to experience inequities and even atrocities, day after day, when justice is a God-given and legislated right. And it's exhausting to have to constantly explain this to white people who fall prey to white fragility and too often are unwittingly complicit in upholding the very systems they say they want dismantled.

Lilac's birthright makes her the Queen of Renovia and a forced marriage made her the Queen of Montrice, but being a ruler does not mean making the rules. For Lilac, taking the throne means giving up the opportunity to be with love of her life, the kingdom's assassin, Caledon Holt. Worse, Cal is forced to leave the castle when a horrific set of magical attacks threatens Lilac's sovereignty. Now Cal and Lilac will have to battle dark forces separately, even though being together is the only thing that's ever saved them. In the conclusion to Melissa De La Cruz's fantasy duet, love and magic are at war, and victory rests on a knife's edge.

LORE

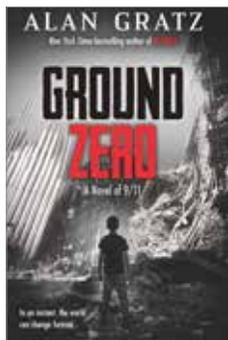

Alexandra Bracken

#1 NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

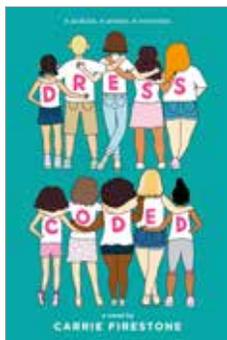

Every seven years, the Agon begins. As punishment for a past rebellion, nine Greek gods are forced to walk the earth as mortals, hunted by the descendants of ancient bloodlines, all eager to kill a god. Long ago, Lore Perseous fled that brutal world in the wake of her family's sadistic murder, turning her back on the hunt's promises of eternal glory. Now, two participants seek out her help: Castor, a childhood friend of Lore believed long dead, and a gravely wounded Athena, among the last of the original gods. Lore's decision to bind her fate to Athena's and rejoin the hunt will come at a deadly cost — and may not be enough to stop the rise of a new god with the power to bring humanity to its knees.
