Political Extremism and Radicalism, Part III: Global Communist and Socialist Movements

A broad-scope collection of firsthand narratives chronicling communist, socialist, and far-left groups, and figures operating across the world’s capitalist nations. This archive provides insight into how these groups saw themselves and the world around them during the major political and social events that occurred in the twentieth century.
ABOUT THE ARCHIVE

Political Extremism and Radicalism, Part III: Global Communist and Socialist Movements is an extension of the Political Extremism and Radicalism programme, focusing on left-wing thinking so researchers can explore political ideologies such as Marxism-Leninism, Maoism, Trotskyism, and anarchism across different countries, as well as the world’s response to the Russian Revolution, the rise of the Soviet Union, and the Red Scare.

Source Libraries include the University of California, Davis; Senate House Library, University of London; Yale University; Harvard Law School Library; New York University; the British Library; Federal Bureau of Investigation; and Independent Labour Publications.
