

The Chatham House Online Archive

Publications and Archives of the Royal Institute of International Affairs from 1920 including audio recordings from 1966 onwards

Over 90 years of independent thinking on international affairs

Cengage Learning has partnered with Chatham House to digitize its rich archive covering the 20th and 21st centuries. Containing over 90 years of high-level analysis and research on global events and issues, this searchable online archive brings international affairs knowledge and expertise directly to the fingertips of researchers and students.

Half a million pages of research and analysis

The Chatham House Online Archive provides a searchable, browseable research environment that enables users to explore approximately half a million pages and almost 100 years of research, expert analysis and commentary.

- Subject-indexed briefing papers, special reports, pamphlets, conference papers, monographs and lectures and speeches that allow users to quickly retrieve and analyze material.
- Access to the full text of Chatham House's flagship publications: the journal International Affairs and the magazine The World Today.
- Unique access to the texts of Chatham House lectures by major world figures and specialists across the field of international affairs from 1920 onwards including thousands of hours of audio recordings from 1966 onwards. Key figures in international affairs who spoke at Chatham House include Mahatma Gandhi, Winston Churchill, Willy Brandt, King Hussein of Jordan, and many more.

As a truly global resource, researchers will find every region of the world covered including: Africa, the Americas, Asia, Europe, Middle East, Russia and Australasia.

About Chatham House

Based in St James's Square, London, Chatham House has long been regarded as one of the world's premier think tanks on international affairs.

Since 1920, Chatham House has provided:

- Independent analysis and informed debate, promoting open, as well as confidential, discussions about significant developments in the global arena.
- Independent and rigorous analysis of global, regional and country-specific challenges.

Voted the No. 1 think tank outside the United States for five consecutive years by the Global "Go-To Think Tanks" survey.

Charting the 20th Century

Key Features:

- Transcripts of speeches/meetings given by key figures in international affairs (prime ministers, presidents, government ministers, diplomats, military personnel, academics, journalists from countries around the world)
- Audio recordings of meetings from 1966 onwards linked to transcripts, making previously audio-only meetings fully searchable
- Profiles/biographies of authors and speakers
- Linking between transcripts and related articles
- Search journal articles, reports, books, conference papers and Chatham House meetings
- Subject indexing of every article, chapter and publication

The Chatham House Online Archive will offer users invaluable insights into the changing dynamics of the 20th and 21st century worlds, including:

- The end of colonialism
- The development of communism and the Cold War
- Post-war reconstruction
- The rise and collapse of ideologies and dictatorships
- The integration of Europe
- The changing nature of trade
- The effects of globalization

A multi-disciplinary resource bringing this crucial period of international history to researchers and students:

- Respected, expert content — High-level analysis, research and “behind the scenes” insight into influencers and deal brokers
- Richer context around 20th century decision making — Speech and meeting transcripts are augmented with formerly unavailable audio-only meetings
- Informed perspectives on 21st century affairs — in-depth analytical approach to contemporary world politics via Chatham House’s publications

The Chatham House Online Archive is divided into two parts. The first part covers years 1920-1979, and the second part covers years 1980-2008.

---

For more information, contact your Gale Representative at 1.800.877.4253 or visit gale.com/gdc

---

CHATHAM HOUSE

