GALE Primary Sources
Start at the source.

19th Century UK Periodicals

Search for this archive on the library database

www.gale.com/ukperiodicalsintro

VARIOUS SOURCE MEDIA, 19TH CENTURY UK PERIODICALS

EMPOWER RESEARCH

A Visit to Chu-hsien and Wan-hsien.

HAVING been asked to superintend the work at the above-named stations of the Mission, the Rev. A. T. Foulsham-Turner, writing on Nov. 24th, informs us that he left his home at Suiting, and, accompanied by Mr. A. Holland, proceeded first by boat to Chu-hsien, which is about twenty miles distant from Suiting.

Our missionary brothers took with them their native helper, Mr. Tung, and also two native servants.

We take up Mr. Turner’s narrative, at the point where he mentions the arrival of the party at Chu-hsien.

CHU-HSIEN.

"Chu-hsien is prettily situated by the river side, but part of the city rises up a hill-side, and our Mission house is quite high up, outside the North Gate, on a busy street. Chu-hsien, being half-way from Peking to Canton by water, is also half-way from Peo-ving to Wan-hsien overland, and is therefore a busy and important centre. The old house has much unhealthiness, both Miss Forrest and Miss Grovesy having been ill with malaria fever, so I rejoice to say the Lord has..."
Gale Primary Sources
Start at the source.

19th Century
UK Periodicals

Search for this archive on the library database

www.gale.com/ukperiodicalsintro

@GaleEMEA

Various source media, 19th Century UK Periodicals