Have you thought about digital resources for this topic?

Gale Primary Sources
Start at the source.

Nineteenth Century Collections Online:
Photography: The World Through the Lens

Number of pages
Over 1.2 million
This fully searchable digital archive provides images that complement studies of history, culture, media, and many other disciplines, covering changes in family and society, invention and scientific discovery, exploration and colonization, urban versus rural life, work, leisure, and travel.

For more information on this archive, visit gale.com/searchncphotography