19th Century UK Periodicals
Part II: Empire: Travel and Anthropology, Economics, Missionary, and Colonia
This digital archive is formed from a range of titles selected by a team of more than twenty editors, all of which are specialists in the field of 19th century studies. It looks at the role Britain played as an imperial power throughout the century, in which Britain extended its influence and reached new heights of Empire building. Titles in this archive span both British and international publications, giving researchers an overview of how events were reported on both sides.
