NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

EDITOR'S CHOICE #1 TITLE

Harry Booth started stealing at nine to keep a roof over his ailing mother's head, slipping into empty homes to find items he could trade for cash. When his mother finally succumbed to cancer, he left Chicago, but kept up his nightwork. Wandering from the Outer Banks to Savannah to New Orleans, he dons new identities and stays careful, observant, distant. He can't afford to attract attention or get attached. After Harry takes a job commissioned by Carter LaPorte, LaPorte decides he wants to own Harry. No matter what name he uses or where he goes, LaPorte casts a shadow over Harry's life. To truly free himself, he must face down his enemy once and for all.

Meet the Geller sisters: Beck, Claire, and Sophie, a trio of strong-minded women whose pragmatic, widowed mother, Marti, will be dying soon. Beck is a freelance journalist whose marriage looks more like a sibling bond than a passionate partnership. Claire's secret unrequited love for the wrong man is slowly destroying her. Sophie appears to live an Instagram-ready life, filled with work and travel, celebrities, fashion, art, and sex. In reality, her existence is a cash-strapped house of cards that may crash at any moment. Enter C.J. Reynolds, an ex-con with his own hidden past who complicates the situation. All is not what it seems, and everything is about to change.

The Kingsley family is American royalty. In 1967, after Joseph S. Kingsley Jr. is killed in a tragic accident, his son inherits the weight of that legacy. Joe III has trouble meeting the expectations of a nation, as well as those of his mother, Dottie. After being discovered by a model scout at age 16, Cate Cooper decides her looks may be her only ticket out of the cycle of disappointment her mother has always inhabited. Before long, Cate's face is in magazines and on billboards. When Joe and Cate cross paths, their connection is instant and intense. Can their relationship survive the glare of the spotlight and the so-called Kingsley curse?

NORA GOES OFF SCRIPT

Annabel Monaghan

As a romance channel screenwriter, Nora Hamilton knows the formula for love better than anyone. When her husband leaves her and their two kids, Nora turns her marriage's collapse into cash and writes the best script of her life. No one is more surprised than her when it's picked up for the big screen. When Leo Vance is cast as her husband, Nora's life will never be the same. The morning after shooting wraps and the crew leaves, Nora finds Leo on her porch with a half-empty bottle of tequila and a proposition. He'll pay a thousand dollars a day to stay for a week. Seven days. Enough time to fall in love. Enough time to break your heart.

THE RESERVOIR

David Duchovny

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

Gazing out his picture window high above the Central Park Reservoir, former Wall Street veteran Ridley spots a flashing light in an apartment across the park, as if a lonely person is signaling him. His determination to find out who this mystery woman is leads him on a quest that will tempt him with either delusional madness or the fulfillment of his own mythic fate. Ridley leaves the safety of his apartment window to save the femme fatale and descends into a dangerous world of global conspiracies, madness, and sickness; beyond that, into the enduring mysteries of love and fatherhood; and deeper still, into the bedrock mystery of life itself.

THE HEIGHTS

Louise Candlish

"[A] slow-burn psychological suspense that examines grief, fear, guilt, and revenge ... [A] good choice for readers who enjoy twisting narratives." — starred, Library Journal

The Heights is a tall, slender apartment building among the warehouses of Tower Bridge, its roof terrace so discreet you wouldn't know it existed if you weren't standing at the window of the flat directly opposite. But you are. And that's when you see a man up there — a man you'd recognize anywhere. He's older now and his appearance has subtly changed, but it's definitely him. Which makes no sense at all since you know he's been dead for over two years. You know this for a fact. Because you're the one who killed him.

LIFE WITHOUT CHILDREN

STORIES

Roddy Doyle

"A moving and quick-witted portrait of Dublin lives under lockdown." — starred, Kirkus Reviews

Life touches everyone the same. But living under lockdown, it changes us alone. In these 10 short stories, Booker Prize winner Roddy Doyle paints a collective portrait of our strange times. A man wanders the streets of Newcastle as news of the virus asks him to question his next move. An exhausted nurse loses a much-loved patient in isolation. A middle-aged son is barred from his mother's funeral. Told with Doyle's signature warmth, wit, and eye for the richness that underpins our lives, Life Without Children cuts to the heart of how we are all navigating loss, loneliness, and the shifting of history underneath our feet.

Akwaeke Emezi

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

"The author illustrates the complexities of grief, new love, and a young woman discovering who she's and who she wants to be, and readers will enjoy a new take on a love triangle romance." — Library Journal

It's been five years since the accident that killed the love of Feyi Adekola's life and she's almost a new person now — an artist with her own studio and sharing an apartment with her best friend. A steamy encounter at a party cascades into a whirlwind summer: a luxury trip to a tropical island, decadent meals in the home of a celebrity chef, and a major curator who wants to launch her art career. This new life just got a lot more complicated, and Feyi must begin her search for answers. Who's she ready to become? Can she honor her grief while still embracing her future? How far is she's willing to go for a second chance at love?

THE FIRST KENNEDYS

THE HUMBLE ROOTS OF AN AMERICAN DYNASTY

Neal Thompson

"This is both an absorbing family story and a saga of the Irish diaspora in Boston."

— starred, Library Journal

Today, we remember the iconic Kennedy family as the vanguard of wealth, power, and style rather than as the descendants of poor immigrants. Here we meet the first American Kennedys, Patrick and Bridget, who arrived as thousands of others did following the Great Famine — penniless and hungry. Patrick's sudden death left Bridget to raise their children single-handedly. Her rise from housemaid to shop owner kept her family intact, allowing her son P.J. to become a successful businessman. P.J. went on to become the first American Kennedy elected to public office — the first of many.

THE BEAUTY OF DUSK

ON VISION LOST AND FOUND

Frank Bruni

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

"An uplifting exploration of human potential ... [A] poignant, often wise look at how nearly everything bad that happens to us can actually be good." — Kirkus Reviews

One morning in late 2017, New York Times columnist Frank Bruni woke up with blurred vision. Overnight, a stroke had cut off blood to one of his optic nerves, rendering him functionally blind in that eye. In The Beauty of Dusk, Bruni recounts his adjustment to this reality, a medical and spiritual odyssey that involved not only reappraising his own priorities but also reaching out to longtime friends and new acquaintances who had navigated their own traumas and afflictions. The result is an examination of the limits all of us encounter, the lenses through which we choose to evaluate them, and the tools we have for perseverance.

THE DARK QUEENS
THE BLOODY RIVALRY THAT FORGED THE MEDIEVAL WORLD
Shelley Puhak

"A compelling read for those with an interest in early medieval European history, Merovingian history, and women in power." — Library Journal

Brunhild was a foreign princess, raised to be married off for the sake of alliance-building. Her sister-in-law Fredegund started out as a lowly palace slave. Yet these two strategists reigned over vast realms, and in the process laid the foundations of what would be Charlemagne's empire. Yet after the queens' deaths their stories were rewritten, their names consigned to slander and legend. In The Dark Queens, Shelley Puhak sets the record straight. She resurrects two women in all their complexity, striking at the roots of some of our culture's stubbornest myths about female power.

THE TRIALS OF HARRY S. TRUMAN
THE EXTRAORDINARY PRESIDENCY OF AN ORDINARY MAN, 1945-1953
Jeffrey Frank

"A well-researched, engagingly human portrait of this complex mid-20th-century political leader."
— Kirkus Reviews

Historians have tended to portray Harry Truman as stolid and decisive, with a homespun manner, but the man who emerges in The Trials of Harry S. Truman is complex and surprising. He was a man with generous impulses, loyal to friends and family, but quick to anger and prone to hasty decisions. Archival discoveries and research have contributed to an indelible and deeply human portrait of an ordinary man suddenly forced to shoulder extraordinary responsibilities, who never lost a schoolboy's romantic love for his country and its Constitution.

COVERED WITH NIGHT
A STORY OF MURDER AND INDIGENOUS JUSTICE IN EARLY AMERICA
Nicole Eustace

"Eustace's account offers not only the history of the trial, but also an inclusive examination of ongoing clashes over the possession of land rights." — Library Journal

On the eve of a treaty conference between Iroquois leaders and European colonists in 1722, two white fur traders attacked an Indigenous hunter and left him for dead near Conestoga, Pennsylvania. An absorbing chronicle built around an extraordinary group of characters — from the slain man's widow to the Indigenous diplomat known as "Captain Civility" to the scheming governor of Pennsylvania — Covered with Night transforms a single event into an unforgettable portrait of early America. It ultimately revives a lost vision of crime and punishment that reverberates down into our own time.

WHEN ALL LIGHT FAILS

A Ryan DeMarco Mystery

Randall Silvis

"A soulful, deeply felt story less invested in the mystery at hand than in the mysteries of the universe."

— Kirkus Reviews

Ryan DeMarco can't refuse a nine-year-old Michigan girl begging for help finding her biological father. But things aren't as they appear in the woods of Michigan, and the seemingly simple investigation soon morphs into something deadly. The deeper DeMarco and the rest of the team dig, the more ugly truths they reveal, all while doing their best to keep one member of their team from falling prey to her own kind of darkness. This investigation just might be the most emotionally troubling one DeMarco has encountered, for there are plenty of people who will do whatever it takes to shut him down before the truth comes to light.

BLACK CLOUD RISING
David Wright Faladé

"The story of the African Brigade ... gets its due in this superior adult debut from Faladé." — starred, Publishers Weekly

Told by Sgt. Richard Etheridge, the son of an enslaved woman and her former master, Black Cloud Rising is based on the true story of the African Brigade, an all-Black regiment led by General

Edward Augustus Wild, a one-armed white abolitionist who terrorized the North Carolina countryside. Eager to prove his worth but deeply conflicted about his own notions of Blackness and whiteness, Richard must navigate a world of violence and moral uncertainty, never knowing whether the shot that could end his life will be fired by his own cousin, who's turned Confederate guerrilla, or his fellow soldier, the self-named Revere, who sees through Richard's racial self-doubt.

A WOMAN OF ENDURANCE
Dahlma Llanos-Figueroa

"Llanos-Figueroa's ... return ... traces the gut-wrenching life of a woman who struggles to survive slavery and find trust and love in her community ... This harrowing story is hard to put down." — Publishers Weekly

In 19th-century Puerto Rico, Pola, a deeply spiritual African woman, is captured and later sold for the purpose of breeding future slaves. The dehumanizing violence of her life almost destroys her. This is not a novel of defeat but rather one of survival, regeneration, and reclamation of common humanity. From the sadistic barbarity of her first experiences, she moves on to receive compassion and support from a revitalizing new community. Along the way, she learns to recognize and embrace the many faces of love. It's ultimately, a novel of the triumph of the human spirit even under the most brutal of conditions.

PASSING
Nella Larsen

Clare Kendry is living on the edge. Light-skinned, elegant, and ambitious, she's married to a racist white man unaware of her African American heritage and has severed all ties to her past after deciding to "pass" as a white woman. Clare's childhood friend, Irene Redfield, just as light-skinned, has chosen to remain within the African American community, and is simultaneously allured and repelled by Clare's decision to engage in racial masquerade. Clare's interest in Irene turns into a homoerotic longing for Irene's black identity that she abandoned, and she's forced to grapple with her decision to pass for white in a way that is both tragic and telling.

LEASE ON LOVE

Falon Ballard

"This charming story of new beginnings and emotional growth has a sassy and likable narrator in Sadie, and the novel keeps a light tone despite touching on difficult subjects like toxic families and grief." — Library Journal

After getting passed over for a promotion, Sadie Green is in desperate need of three things: a stiff drink, a new place to live, and a one-night stand. When a mix-up lands her on the doorstep of Jack Thomas' Brooklyn brownstone, it's too bad Sadie is more attracted to the impressive real estate than to the man himself. Jack, still grieving the death of his parents, has learned to find comfort in video games and movies instead of friends. So while he doesn't know what to make of Sadie, he's willing to offer her his spare bedroom while she gets back on her feet. The two are polar opposites, but they both start to realize they may have made the deal of a lifetime.

A Vineyard Novel

Jean Stone

With her wedding to John Lyons only weeks away, Annie Sutton is faced with more drama than usual. Between the hideous heirloom gown her new family expects her to wear and the challenges of bonding with John's daughter Abigail, Annie's having doubts. When the baby she once found on her doorstep goes missing, Annie has bigger concerns. Suddenly it seems as if Abigail will do anything to stop her father from marrying Annie — even putting a child at risk. If scaring Annie half to death is the plan, it's working. And if postponing her future with John is the only way to make that happen, it's a sacrifice Annie may have to make.

BAREFOOT IN THE SAND

An Eliot's Corner, Maine Novel

Holly Chamberlin

There are moments that change your entire life's direction. For Arden Bell, one such moment comes when she opens the door to Laura Huntington — the daughter she isn't seen in 37 years. Not a day has passed in which Arden hasn't thought of the baby her wealthy, powerful parents forced her to give up for adoption. Now Laura's arrival, and her inevitable questions, will propel both women on a journey to forge a new relationship and unravel the past. Amid revelations and discoveries, they'll learn the truth about the risks we take and sacrifices we make for love.

THE LOST DREAMER

Lizz Huerta

Indir is a Dreamer, descended from a long line of seers; able to see beyond reality, she carries the rare gift of Dreaming truth. King Alcan wants an opportunity to bring the Dreamers to a permanent end. As violent change shakes Indir's world, she's forced to make an impossible choice: fight for her home or fight to survive. Saya is a seer, but not a Dreamer — she's never been formally trained. Her mother exploits her daughter's gift, passing it off as her own as they travel from village to village, never staying in one place too long. As she comes to distrust the only family she's ever known, Saya will do what she's never done before, go where she's never been, and risk it all in the search of answers.
