RISE AND SHINE TWENTY-NINE

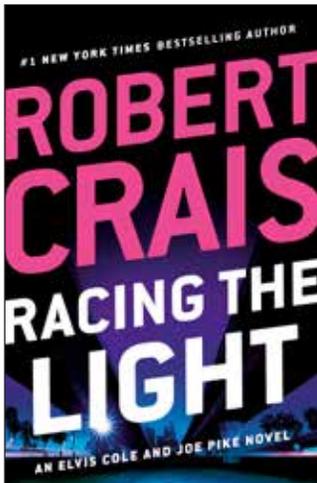

A Stephanie Plum Novel

Janet EvanovichNEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR
EDITOR'S CHOICE #1 TITLE

Stephanie Plum knows something is amiss when she turns up for work at Vinnie's Bail Bonds to find that longtime office manager Connie Rosolli hasn't shown up. Stephanie's worst fears are confirmed when she gets a call from Connie's abductor. He says he will only release her in exchange for a mysterious coin that a recently murdered man left as collateral for his bail. Unfortunately, this coin, which should be in the office—just like Connie—is nowhere to be found. The quest to discover the coin, learn its value, and save Connie will require the help of Stephanie's Grandma Mazur, her best pal Lula, her boyfriend Morelli, and hunky security expert Ranger. As they get closer to unraveling the reasons behind Connie's kidnapping, Connie's captor grows more threatening and soon Stephanie has no choice but to throw caution to the wind, follow her instincts, and go rogue.

EDITOR'S CHOICE #4 TITLE

It's 1685, England is on the brink of a civil war against the Stuart kings and many families are divided. Ned Ferryman cannot persuade his sister, Alinor, that he is right to return from America to join the rebel army. Alinor has been coaxed to save the queen from the coming siege. The rewards are life-changing: the family could return to their beloved Tideland, and Alinor could rule where she was once lower than a servant. Alinor's son, Rob, is determined to stay clear of the war, but when he and his nephew set out to free Ned from execution for treason, they find themselves enmeshed in the creation of an imposter Prince of Wales — a surrogate baby to the queen.

LIBERATION DAY ★★

STORIES

George Saunders

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

Here is a collection of stories that encompass joy and despair, oppression and revolution, fantasy and reality. "Love Letter" is a tender missive from grandfather to grandson. "Ghoul" follows the exploits of a morally complex character named Brian. In "Mother's Day," two women come to an existential reckoning in the middle of a hailstorm. In "Elliott Spencer," our eighty-nine-year-old protagonist finds his memory "scraped" — a scheme in which vulnerable people are reprogrammed and deployed as political protesters. "My House" comes to terms with the haunting nature of unfulfilled dreams and the inevitability of decay.

SOPHIE GO'S LONELY HEARTS CLUB ★

Roselle Lim

LIBRARY READS PICK

"This engaging book takes a close look at love, friendship, sorrow, loss, and responsibilities to family — both the family members you are born with and the family members that you find."

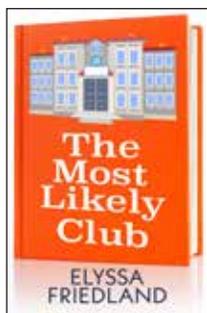

— starred, Kirkus Reviews

Professional matchmaker Sophie Go has returned to Toronto after three years in Shanghai. Her job is made quite difficult, however, when she is revealed as a fraud — she never actually graduated from matchmaking school. Soon Sophie becomes an outcast. In dire search of clients, Sophie stumbles upon a secret club within her condo complex: the Old Ducks, seven septuagenarian Chinese bachelors who never found love. Somehow, she convinces them to hire her, but her matchmaking skills are put to the test as she learns the depths of loneliness, heartbreak, and love by attempting to make the hardest matches of her life.

THE MOST LIKELY CLUB

Elyssa Friedland

In 1997, Melissa Levin, Priya Chowdhury, Tara Taylor, and Suki Hammer are going places. Their yearbook superlatives confirm it: Most Likely to Win the White House, Cure Cancer, Open a Michelin-Starred Restaurant, and Join the Forbes 400. Fast forward twenty-five years and nothing has gone according to plan. Fueled by nostalgia, they form a pact to push through their middle-aged angst to bring their teenage aspirations to fruition, dubbing themselves the "Most Likely Girls." Through the ensuing highs and lows, they are reminded of the bonds of friendship, the ways our childhood dreams both sustain and surprise us, and why it's deeply uncool to peak in high school.

MAKING A SCENE ★Constance Wu

"Wu dazzles in this essay collection about love, family, and her hard-won path to Hollywood success . . . [H]er determination radiates from every page." — Publishers Weekly

Growing up, Constance Wu spent most of her childhood suppressing her bold, emotional nature. Acting became her refuge, her touchstone, and eventually her vocation. At eighteen she moved to New York, where she'd spend the next ten years struggling to make rent before her two big breaks: the TV sitcom Fresh Off the Boat and the hit film Crazy Rich Asians. Through raw and relatable essays, Constance shares memories of childhood, young love and heartbreak, sexual assault and harassment, and how she "made it" in Hollywood. Her stories offer a look at being Asian American in the entertainment industry and the evolution of her identity and influence in the public eye.

YOU'RE INVITED

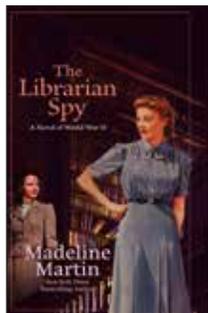

Amanda Jayatissa

"In addition to offering unapologetically strong, vividly imperfect female characters, the novel offers commentary on social privilege in Sri Lanka and on the gaudy, illusion-filled world of social media influencers." — Kirkus Reviews

When Amaya is invited to Kaavi's wedding in Sri Lanka, she is surprised and a little hurt to hear from her former best friend after so many years of silence. But when Amaya learns that the groom is her very own ex-boyfriend, she is consumed by a single thought: She must stop the wedding. As rumors about Amaya's past begin to swirl, she can't help but feel like she has a target on her back. When Kaavi goes missing and is presumed dead, all evidence points to Amaya. However, nothing is as it seems as each wedding guest has their own dark secret and agenda, and Amaya may not be the only one with a plan to keep the bride from getting her happily ever after.

THE LAST HILL

THE EPIC STORY OF A RANGER BATTALION AND THE BATTLE THAT DEFINED WWII

Bob Drury and Tom Clavin

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

In December 1944, Lt. Col. James Rudder’s 2nd Battalion would form the spearhead into Germany. Rudder was given two objectives: Take Hill 400 and hold the hill by any means possible. Several Wehrmacht regiments had been given the exact same orders. The clash of the two forces was one of the bloodiest encounters of World War II. Of the 130 special operators who held the hill that December day, only 16 remained to stagger back down its frozen slopes. The Last Hill is a rich saga of what the survivors would remember as “our longest day.”

PUTIN ★★ ★
Philip Short

“Short has written a remarkable biography, rich in facts and details, of Putin’s life and career.”
— starred, Library Journal

Vladimir Putin is the world’s most dangerous man. He has the power to reduce the United States and Europe to ashes in a nuclear firestorm and has threatened to do so. He is wreaking havoc in Europe, threatening global peace and stability, and exposing his fellow citizens to devastating economic countermeasures. Yet many Russians continue to support him. This book is essential reading for anyone who wants to understand the many facets of the man behind the mask that Putin wears on the world stage. Drawing on almost two hundred interviews conducted over eight years and on source material in more than a dozen languages, Putin will be the last word for years to come.

THE STONE AGE

SIXTY YEARS OF THE ROLLING STONES

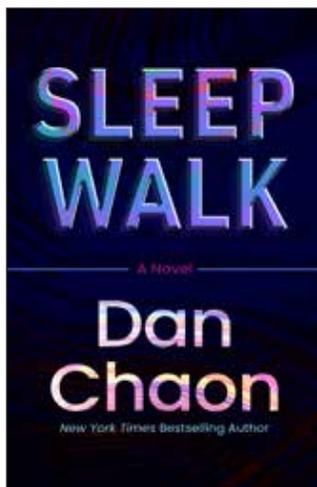

Lesley-Ann Jones

“A feast for those looking for Rolling Stones gossip.” — Kirkus Reviews

On July 12, 1962, the Rollin’ Stones performed their first-ever gig at London’s Marquee jazz club. Down the line, a “g” was added and their destiny was sealed. These five white British kids honed a style that bled bluesy undertones into dark insinuations of women, sex, and drugs. Denounced as “corruptors of youth” and “messengers of the devil,” they created some of the most thrilling music ever recorded. Lesley-Ann Jones tracks this unstoppable band through hope, glory, and exile, into the juggernaut years and beyond into rock’s ongoing reckoning. Good, bad, and often ugly, here are the Rolling Stones as never seen before.

Dan ChaonINDIE NEXT PICK

"Chaon expertly fuses the dystopian nightmares of technology and crime with fascinating characters who cross a hellscape to find each other. This is his best one yet." — starred, Publishers Weekly

At fifty years old, Will Bear's been living off the grid for over half his life. He spends his time hopscotching across state lines in his camper van, running shady and often dangerous errands for a powerful and ruthless operation he's never troubled himself to learn much about. Out of the blue, one of Will's burner phones heralds a call from a twenty-year-old woman claiming to be his biological daughter. She says she's the product of one of his long-ago sperm donations. She's entrenched in a nefarious plot involving Will's employers, and for Will to have contact with her fuzzes the line between the people he is working for and the people he's running from.

"Green delivers a gripping and expertly researched Southern literary thriller that is anything but cozy."
— starred, Kirkus Reviews

It begins quietly on a balmy Southern night as some locals gather at Bo Peep's, one of the town's favorite watering holes. Within an hour, however, a man will be murdered and his companion will be "disappeared." An unlikely detective, Morgana Musgrove, doyenne of Savannah society, is called upon to unravel the mystery of these crimes. Morgana is an imperious, demanding, and conniving woman, whose four grown children are weary of her schemes. But one by one she inveigles them into helping with her investigation, and soon the family uncovers some terrifying truths — truths that will rock Savannah's power structure to its core.

DARK OBJECTS ★

A NOVEL

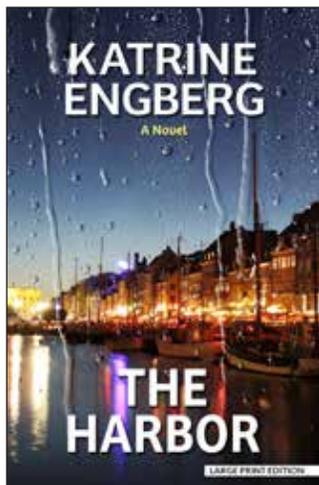

Simon Toyne

"[An] excellent police procedural . . . Toyne has upped his game with this one." — starred, Publishers Weekly

A woman is murdered in her London mansion and her husband goes missing. The only leads police have are several objects arranged around the woman's body, including a book called How to Process a Murder by Laughton Rees — a book that appears to have helped the killer forensically cleanse the crime scene. Laughton Rees doesn't usually work live cases, but the presence of her book at this scene draws her into the investigation. As the objects found beside the body lead her closer to the victim's identity, a threat to Laughton and her daughter emerges, as well as painful memories of her past. Now, Laughton has to face her darkest fears and help catch a killer.

Katrine Engberg, Translated by Tara Chace

"[E]ngrossing . . . The plot takes some unexpected turns as the detectives unearth some shocking secrets . . . en route to the satisfying conclusion." — Publishers Weekly

When fifteen-year-old Oscar Dreyer-Hoff disappears, the police assume he's simply a runaway. But his family is certain something terrible has happened. After all, what runaway would leave behind a note that reads: He looked around and saw the knife that had stabbed Basil Hallward. He had cleaned it many times, till there was no stain left upon it. It was bright and glistened. As it had killed the painter, so it would kill the painter's work, and all that that meant. It would kill the past, and when that was dead, he would be free. It's not much to go on, but it's all detectives Jeppe Kørner and Anette Werner have, and it will have to be enough.

"This compelling set of interrelated short stories . . . [offer] unique insight into issues of race and belonging . . . A revelatory work, full of a young man's questioning and told in a distinctive voice, this contemplation of identity, culture, and race in the United States today is highly recommended."
— starred, Library Journal

In the 1970s, Topper and Sanya flee to Miami as political violence consumes their native Kingston. But America, as the couple and their two children learn, is far from the promised land. Excluded from society as Black immigrants, the family pushes on through Hurricane Andrew and later the 2008 recession, living in a house so cursed that the pet fish launches itself out of its own tank rather than stay. But even as things fall apart, the family remains motivated, often to its own detriment, by what their younger son, Trelawny, calls "the exquisite, racking compulsion to survive."

Lucy and Elton are neighbors, but he's jealous of his wife's friendship with Lucy, and she thinks he's overbearing. When her friend suddenly dies, Lucy agrees to marry Elton — but only for the sake of the children. Lucy is steadfast in her faith, while Elton is an unbeliever, bitter over his wife's death and the murder of his parents by natives. When Elton is elected to oversee the native relocation program, he finds himself protecting those he once despised. With Lucy's help, he takes a journey toward forgiveness that leads him to the Lord. Just when Lucy dares to love again, Elton makes a confession that breaks her heart. Will love cause him to stay or to go?

MURDER AT THE BLUEBERRY FESTIVAL

A BEACON BAKESHOP MYSTERY

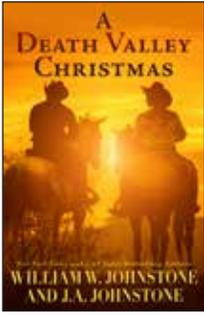

Darci Hannah

"You'll never see the end coming in this delightfully zany tale." — Kirkus Reviews

After a career on Wall Street, Lindsey is making a different kind of dough in a pretty lakeside village, and the upcoming blueberry festival is the highlight of the summer. But soon Beacon Harbor runs into trouble. A local real estate agent gets pranked. A parade float gets pelted with water balloons. It's all laughed off until the stunts start escalating and looking more like sabotage. As the event turns into a debacle, Lindsey's sweetheart, a former SEAL, starts investigating. The mystery takes a turn when a man is found dead in a boat, and it's no longer mischief but murder.

ALL MY SINS REMEMBERED

Rod Miller

SPUR AWARD-WINNING AUTHOR

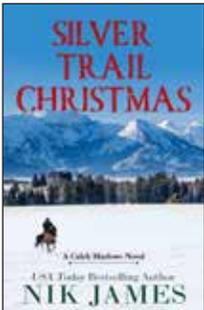

On a lonely road in a remote desert stands a roadhouse. Formerly a home station on a now abandoned stagecoach route, it is the only source of water and supplies for miles. Accommodations are crude and coarse, the hospitality rough and raw, the proprietor boorish and vulgar. Travelers are few and far between, and almost all must stop for water — which comes at a price. A mounted mail carrier who visits the roadhouse with some regularity suspects there is more to the place than meets the eye, and he comes to believe that for some travelers, the roadhouse is the end of the road.

W. Michael Farmer

SPUR AWARD-WINNING AUTHOR

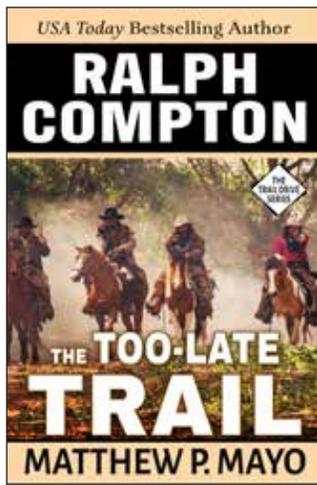

The Iliad of Geronimo begins in 1877, ten years before Geronimo's surrender, with him being hauled four hundred miles in chains to the San Carlos Reservation Guardhouse to await hanging in Tucson. Almost miraculously, Geronimo escaped and lived peacefully for a time on the San Carlos Reservation. Geronimo and his followers escaped reservations three times during the nearly ten years of Geronimo's Iliad. After leaving the reservations, the Apaches raided and made war from the Sierra Madre mountains in Mexico. Chiricahua Apache heroes were great warriors, their names filling the Americans and Mexicans with terror.

INDIE NEXT PICK
PURA BELPRÉ HONOR

"This beautifully written and exciting story of a family fleeing during the Mexican revolution offers a new perspective in historical fiction." — starred, School Library Journal

It's 1913, and twelve-year-old Petra Luna's mama has died while the Revolution rages in Mexico. Before her papa is dragged away by soldiers, Petra vows to him that she will care for the family she has left — her abuelita, little sister Amelia, and baby brother Luisito. They flee north through the desert, searching for safe harbor. Each night when Petra closes her eyes, she holds her dreams close, especially her long-held desire to learn to read. Abuelita calls these barefoot dreams, but Petra refuses to listen. She will stop at nothing to keep her family safe and lead them to a better life across the U.S. border where her dreams could finally become reality.

THE WHITTIER*Danielle SteelNEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR*

Preston and Constance Whittier have built a happy life, with six children raised in a Manhattan mansion. With a nearly empty nest, the Whittiers take a solo romantic ski trip. But this year's trip brings tragedy, and the Whittier's adult children reunite in the family home without their parents for the first time. The oldest, Lyle, is reaching a breaking point in his marriage. Gloria's big job on Wall Street has kept her single at thirty-nine. The twins, Caroline and Charlie, moved out long ago to start a fashion business that may now be faltering. Benjie, with special needs, is hit hard by the loss of his parents and needs help. Annabelle, the youngest, drops out of college. The eldest four must put aside their personal issues to keep the family together. Selling the house, along with all the memories that live in its walls, feels like yet another loss. Could there be another way, as unconventional as it seems?

NO PLAN B

A JACK REACHER NOVEL

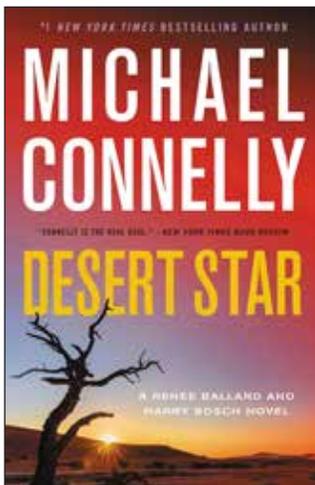

Lee Child and Andrew Child

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

In Gerrardsville, Colorado, a woman dies under the wheels of a moving bus. The death is ruled a suicide. But Jack Reacher saw what really happened: A man in a gray hoodie and jeans, moving stealthily, pushed the victim to her demise before swiftly grabbing the dead woman's purse and strolling away. When another homicide is ruled an accident, Reacher knows this is no coincidence. With a killer on the loose, Reacher has no time to waste to track down those responsible. But Reacher is unaware that these crimes are part of something much larger and more far-reaching: an arsonist out for revenge, a foster kid on the run, a cabal of powerful people involved in a secret conspiracy with many moving parts. There is no room for error, but they make a grave one. They don't consider Reacher a threat.

DESERT STAR

Michael Connelly

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

A year has passed since LAPD detective Renée Ballard quit the force in the face of misogyny, demoralization, and endless red tape. Yet after the chief of police tells her she can write her ticket within the department, Ballard takes back her badge, leaving "the Late Show" to rebuild the cold case unit at the elite Robbery-Homicide Division. For years, Harry Bosch has been working a case that haunts him but that he hasn't been able to crack — the murder of an entire family by a psychopath who still walks free. Ballard makes Bosch an offer: come work with her as a volunteer investigator in the new Open-Unsolved Unit, and he can pursue his "white whale" with the resources of the LAPD behind him. The two put aside old resentments to work together again and close in on a dangerous killer.

THE PERFECT ASSASSIN

A DOC SAVAGE THRILLER

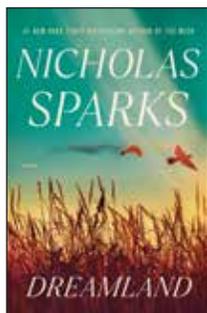

James Patterson and Brian Sitts

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

Dr. Brandt Savage is on sabbatical from the University of Chicago. Instead of doing solo fieldwork in anthropology, the gawky, bespectacled Ph.D. finds himself enrolled in a school where he is the sole pupil. His professor, "Meed," is demanding. She's also his captor. Savage emerges from their intensive training sessions physically and mentally transformed, but with no idea why he's been chosen, and how he'll use his fearsome abilities. His first mission with Meed takes them back to her own training ground, where Savage learns how deeply entwined their two lives have been. To prevent a new class of killers from escaping this harsh place where their ancestors first fought to make a better world, they must pledge anew: Do right to all, and wrong to no one.

AND THERE WAS LIGHT
ABRAHAM LINCOLN AND THE AMERICAN STRUGGLE

Jon Meacham

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

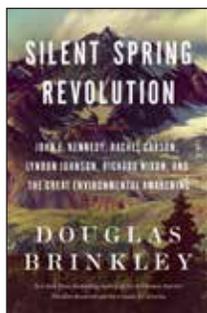

A president who governed a divided country has much to teach us in a twenty-first-century moment of polarization and political crisis. Hated and hailed, Abraham Lincoln was at the pinnacle of American power when secessionists gave no quarter in a clash of visions bound up with money, race, identity, and faith. This illuminating new portrait gives us a very human Lincoln — an imperfect man whose moral antislavery commitment began as he grew up in an antislavery Baptist community; who insisted that slavery was a moral evil; and who sought, as he put it, to do right as God gave him to see the right. This book tells the story of Lincoln from his birth on the Kentucky frontier in 1809 to his leadership during the Civil War to his tragic assassination in 1865: his rise, his self-education, his loves, his bouts of depression, his political failures, his deepening faith, and his persistent conviction that slavery must end.

SILENT SPRING REVOLUTION

JOHN F. KENNEDY, RACHEL CARSON, LYNDON JOHNSON, RICHARD NIXON, AND THE GREAT ENVIRONMENTAL AWAKENING

Douglas Brinkley

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

With the detonation of an atomic bomb in 1945, humans took control of the earth for the first time. America became the world's leading hyper-industrial and military giant. But the Cold War era's prosperity came at a high cost: oceans began to die, wilderness vanished, DDT poisoned ecosystems, species went extinct, and smog made breathing difficult in cities. Douglas Brinkley pays tribute to those who combated the mauling of the natural world in the Kennedy era. By the 1960s, the problem of environmental degradation had grown much bigger. Environmental justice warriors pushed JFK, who had been inspired by Rachel Carson's 1962 book Silent Spring, to use the federal government to punish chemical polluters, save seashore habitats, and regulate the use of toxic pesticides.

THE TWIST OF A KNIFE

A NOVEL

Anthony Horowitz

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

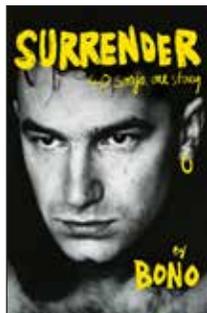

Reluctant author Anthony Horowitz tells ex-detective Daniel Hawthorne that after three books, their deal is over. Horowitz has a new play about to open in London. The play is panned by the critics, including Margaret Throsby, who is stabbed in the heart the next day with an ornamental dagger that belongs to Anthony. Anthony is arrested by an old enemy, Detective Inspector Cara Grunshaw. She carries a grudge from her failure to solve the case described in one of Hawthorne's books. Now she's out for revenge. Thrown into prison, Anthony is the prime suspect in Throsby's murder and when a second theatre critic is found dead, the net closes in. Ever more desperate, he realizes that only Hawthorne can help.

SURRENDER

40 SONGS, ONE STORY

Bono

As one of the music world's most iconic artists and the cofounder of the organizations ONE and (RED), Bono's career has been written about extensively. But in Surrender, Bono, lead singer of Irish rock band U2, writes for the first time about his remarkable life and those he has shared it with. In his unique voice, Bono takes us from his early days growing up in Dublin, including the sudden loss of his mother when he was fourteen, to U2's unlikely journey to become one of the world's most influential rock bands, to his more than twenty years of activism dedicated to the fight against AIDS and extreme poverty. Writing with candor, self-reflection, and humor, Bono opens the aperture on his life, and the family, friends, and faith that have sustained, challenged, and shaped him.

THE PASSENGER

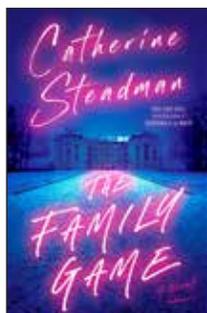

Cormac McCarthy

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

It is three in the morning in Pass Christian, Mississippi, in 1980, when Bobby Western zips the jacket of his wet suit and plunges from the Coast Guard tender into darkness. His dive light illuminates a sunken jet, nine bodies still buckled in their seats. Missing from the crash site are the pilot's flight bag, the plane's black box, and the tenth passenger. But how? A collateral witness to machinations that can only bring him harm, Western is shadowed in body and spirit by men with badges; by the ghost of his father, inventor of the bomb that melted glass and flesh in Hiroshima; and by his sister, the love and ruin of his soul. Traversing the American South, from the barrooms of New Orleans to an abandoned oil rig off the Florida coast, The Passenger is a breathtaking novel of morality and science, the legacy of sin, and the madness that is human consciousness.

THE FAMILY GAME

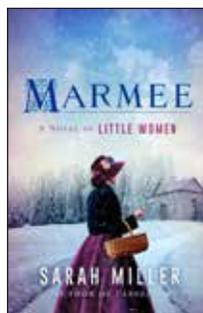

Catherine Steadman

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

Harriet Reed, a novelist on the brink of literary stardom, is newly engaged to Edward Holbeck, the heir of a powerful family. Though Edward has tried to sever ties with them, news of the couple's marital bliss has the Holbecks inching back into their lives.

As Harriet is drawn into their lavish world, the family seems perfectly welcoming. So when Edward's father, Robert, hands Harriet a tape of a book he's working on, she is desperate to listen. As she presses play, it's clear that this isn't just a novel. It's a confession to a murder. Feeling isolated and confused, Harriet must work out if this is part of a plan to test her loyalty, or something far darker. What is it that Robert sees in her? Why give her the power to destroy everything? This might be a game to the Holbeck family — but losing might still prove deadly.

MARMEE

A NOVEL

Sarah Miller

In 1861, war is raging in the South, but in Concord, Massachusetts, Margaret March has her own battles to fight. With her husband serving as an army chaplain, the security of Margaret's four daughters — Meg, Jo, Beth, and Amy — rest on her shoulders. Money is tight and every month, her husband sends less of his salary. Worst of all, Margaret harbors the secret that these financial hardships are her fault, thanks to a mistake made over a decade ago which wiped out her family's fortune. Margaret longs to do more for the war effort, the poor, the cause of abolition, and for her daughters. She fills her days with charity work to keep her worries at bay. After Margaret is summoned to her husband's bedside in Washington, D.C., her daughter Beth falls ill, forcing Margaret to confront the possibility that the price of her own generosity toward others may be her daughter's life.

THE COUPLE AT THE TABLE

A NOVEL

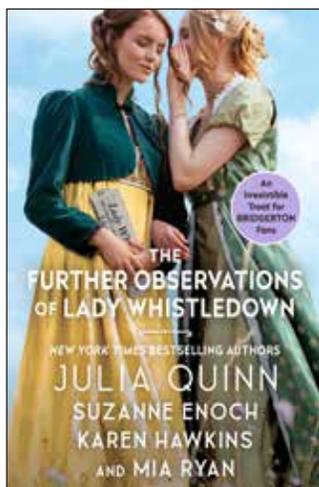

Sophie Hannah

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

Jane and William are enjoying their honeymoon at an exclusive couples-only resort until Jane receives a chilling note warning her to “Beware of the couple at the table nearest to yours.” At dinner that night, five other couples are present, and none of their tables is any nearer or farther away than any of the others. It’s almost as if someone has set the scene in order to make the warning note meaningless, but why would anyone do that? Jane has no idea. But someone in this dining room will be dead before breakfast, and all the evidence will suggest that no one there that night could have possibly committed the crime.

THE FURTHER OBSERVATIONS OF LADY WHISTLEDOWN

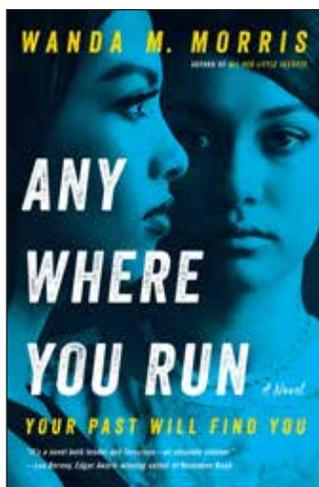

Julia Quinn, Suzanne Enoch, Karen Hawkins, and Mia Ryan

NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLING AUTHOR

In this anthology starring Lady Whistledown, the Regency-era gossip columnist popularized by Julia Quinn’s Bridgerton novels, society is abuzz when a promising debutante is jilted by her intended, then swept away by the deceitful rogue’s older brother. When the scandalous actions of his beautiful fiancée are recorded in Lady Whistledown’s column, a concerned groom-to-be rushes back to London to win his lady’s heart once and forever, in Suzanne Enoch’s enchanting romantic gem. Karen Hawkins captivates with an enduring story of a handsome rogue whose lifelong friendship, and his heart, are tested when the lovely lady in question sets her cap for someone else. A dazzling and delightful tale by Mia Ryan has a young woman cast out of her home by an insufferable yet charming marquis, who intends to take possession not only of the house, but its former occupant as well.

ANYWHERE YOU RUN

A NOVEL

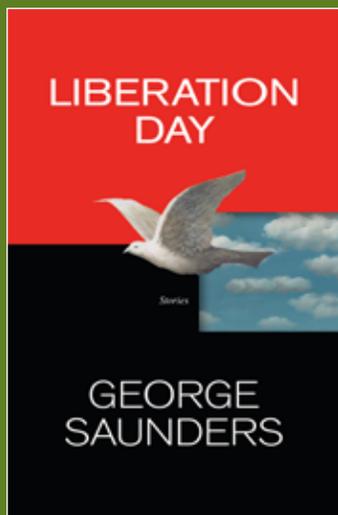

Wanda M. Morris

In the summer of 1964, twenty-one-year-old Violet Richards has suffered a brutal attack and kills the man responsible. But with the color of Violet’s skin, she fears she won’t escape Jim Crow justice in Jackson, Mississippi. With the help of her white beau, Violet flees, hiding out in the rural town of Chillicothe, Georgia. Back in Jackson, Marigold, Violet’s older sister, has dreams of attending law school. She has been trying to further the cause of the Black vote. Pregnant and unmarried, after news of the murder brings the police to her door, Marigold sees no choice but to flee Jackson too. She heads North seeking the promise of a better life. But has she made a terrible choice that threatens her life and that of her unborn child? Two sisters on the run — one from the law, the other from social shame. What they don’t realize is that there’s a man hot on their trail with a disturbing motive for finding the sisters that is unknown to everyone but him.
